Five Additional Leaders Of Blood Purge Slain When "Attempting Escape"

LONDON, Dec. 3—In a dispatch from the Romanian frontier, the London Daily Telegraph reported today that between 60,000 and 75,000 additional German troops have arrived in Romania.

The Daily Telegraph said it had obtained this information from "well informed" sources. It added that Hungarian newspapers stated the German forces were sent to Romania to "end the terrorism" resulting from the Iron Guard purge of its enemies.

BUCHAREST, Dec. 3—In a drastic move to end the Iron Guard reign of terror, the Romanian government today ordered the country's entire civilian population disarm.

In an order issued by the Ministry of Defense, all civilians were ordered to surrender all their arms and munitions within the next three days or face imprisonment.

The order to disarm also applied to the Iron Guard legionnaires. Vice Premier Horia Sima, who is also leader of the Iron Guard organization, issued a special order to the legionnaires to surrender their arms or face expulsion from the party.

Police Force Ended

At the same time, the government dissolved the green-shirted police force of the Iron Guard organization.

As the government resorted to these drastic measures, reports were current in Bucharest that five additional ring leaders of the recent Iron Guard purge have been shot and killed while "attempting to escape." Two of those shot had been arrested in connection with the murder of Professor Nicholas Jorga, former premier

These, he said, are in addition to serviceable American cargo ships which have been and are continuing to be purchased.

"Everything possible is being done to get shipping," he said.

Trend Toward Cities Cut Down First Time In 110 Years

SHIFTS ARE DISCLOSED

Six States Show Losses; District Of Columbia Gain Greatest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—The population of the continental United States today was officially announced as 131,669,275 in a report of the Census Bureau, which revealed a slackening in the increase of city population for the first time in 110 years.

At the same time a new apportionment of the house of representatives, based on population shifts in the last decade, was announced. Ten states lose members of the house while eight gain seats on the basis of the census.

The census figures also contain political implications, assuming that congress keeps membership of the house at 435 and reapportionment state membership on the census figures, since the electoral college is based on the number of members of congress.

The population shifts hit the so-called normal Republican states, especially in the middle-west, and aids the Democrats by adding more electoral votes to some southern and other states which have been Democratic in recent years.

The population figure, which was fixed as of April 1 by the Census Bureau, shows a gain of 7.2 percent since 1930 when the population was 122,775,046.

Move Continues Westward

"Although the westward movement has continued and is reflected in an increased proportion of the population in the Pacific coast and Mountain states, the trend long established in the United States of migration from rural to urban areas has been slackened," Director of the Census William L. Austin said.

The figures show: The Pacific section made the greatest gain in population, totaling 18.8 percent. The South At-

Ohio To Lose One Of Congressmen

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3—Ohio will lose one of its two congressmen-at-large in 1942 as a result of the population shifts as shown by the 1940 census, it was revealed today. The loss will reduce the number of representatives in the lower house to 23, one congressman-at-large and 22 district representatives.

Ohio also will suffer in prestige in national affairs. The Buckeye state will be entitled to only 52 delegates instead of 52 in each of the major party national conventions in 1944, and will be allowed only 25 electoral votes instead of 26.

In 1942, only one candidate for congress-at-large will be nominated on each of the major party tickets instead of two as this year.

Nevertheless, the official 1940 census figures gave the population of Ohio as 6,907,612, a gain of 260,915, or 3.9 percent, in the last ten years.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ASKED TO AID TOY CAMPAIGN

In an effort to help build up the fire department's Christmas toy pile, school children of Circleville are being asked to take discarded toys to their respective school buildings Wednesday.

MERCURY SKIDS TO LOW READING

Nine Degrees Recorded At 8 A. M. Tuesday; Eight In Cambridge

The mercury reading fell below the 10-degree mark in Circleville for the first time this season Tuesday as forecasters predicted slightly lower temperature readings tonight.

The official reading in Circleville at 8 a. m. Tuesday was nine degrees, a decided drop from a reading of higher than 40 Monday afternoon.

Cambridge reported a low of eight degrees, one degree below that recorded at Toledo. Columbus had a low of 10; Cincinnati, 13; Cleveland, 15, and Dayton 10.

Meanwhile, the state highway department reported heavy snowfall in Williams County. Roads in the northern part of the state are slippery in spots due to snow and ice, the department said. Highways in the southwest section were reported as clear and dry.

The weather forecast called for generally fair and colder today. Tomorrow, it promised, will be not quite so cold.

LEGION DEMANDS THAT 'REDS' WHO TEACH BE FIRED

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—Immediate dismissal of every Communist teacher in New York state was demanded by the American Legion today in the wake of admissions by a Brooklyn College professor that he and eight colleagues held Communist Party membership cards under assumed names.

State Legion Adjutant Maurice Sember demanded that the dismissals be made under the Martin-DeVanev Act, a New York State Act which bars from the public payroll all believers in forceful overthrow of government.

The first sensational disclosures concerning Communist activity in the schools were made by Prof. Bernard David Nino Grebanier, an English teacher, testifying before a committee of the state legislature.

Immediate denials came from virtually all of the eight others he named with himself as being Communist Party members. Of this group, Prof. Grebanier and five others are still teaching at Brooklyn College.

Prof. Grebanier, his story half told, was recalled to the stand today.

BRITISH REMOVE 22 GERMANS FROM BRAZILIAN LINER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil Dec. 3—A diplomatic tangle between Brazil and Great Britain appeared likely today as a result of claims that a British naval cruiser halted the 4,978-ton Brazilian steamer Itape, 18 miles off Santos Cap, seizing 22 German passengers as prisoners of war.

The radio broadcaster said it was believed two other merchant vessels—aggregating 16,000 tons—were so badly damaged that they are assumed to have been lost.

The Caledonia formerly was operated by the Anchor Line and was registered out of Glasgow. The 553-foot ship was built in 1925.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 3—Two utility companies—Hillinois Iowa Power Company and Missouri Power & Light Company—

Berlin Reports Many Of Empire's Ports Crowded With Freighters Afraid To Take Chance At Sea

BERLIN, Dec. 3—Virtual annihilation of a huge British convoy with a loss of possibly 185,000 tons of shipping and a violent air attack on the English port of Bristol where the Blenheim bombers are made were announced by German authorities today.

Destruction of the convoy was the joint work of the German navy and air force, it was said. At least 16 vessels were torpedoed or destructively bombed, authorities declared. The surprise attack occurred some 400 miles west of the Irish coast.

Working in unison, the announcement said, several U-boats surprised a large convoy bound for England from the United States. One of the submarines alone sank five steamers. Another bagged the 12,000 ton tanker Victor Ross and a third got the auxiliary cruiser Caledonia, a 17,000-ton ship once familiar on the North Atlantic run.

The day's total was perhaps the largest since the war started. German sources estimated that 140,000 tons were sunk almost in a single spot and the balance within a radius of a few hundred miles.

The Luftwaffe cooperated with U-boats in staging the attack apparently sinking two freighters, but poor visibility prevented definite confirmation.

Bristol Heavily Hit

With regard to Bristol, however, air force spokesmen were more definite. The important city directly opposite Cardiff was "heavily hit" during the night, it was said. Any important spots overlooked or missed in previous attacks are now aflame or heaps of ruins, authorities declared.

Several huge grain and lumber stores near Portishead and the Bristol docks were set afire or destroyed by German bombs, it was said. One gas tank was blown up and "atomized." Luftwaffe observers reported that incoming and outgoing sea traffic near Bristol heavily hit.

British See War's Easy Stage Ended

Britons Must Live Harder; Increased Losses Cited; New Restrictions Near

LONDON, Dec. 3—Possibly for the first time in 15 months of war, the British public as a whole began to become acutely aware today that the "easy-going" stage of the conflict is at an end.

Henceforth, Britons realized, they will have to "live harder" if the victory is to be theirs.

A number of new developments brought this sharply home to the nation, chief of which were:

1.—Announcement of further food restrictions by Lord Woolton, food minister, who said rations of meat and bacon will be reduced and importations of other foods curtailed.

2.—The latest British admiralty announcement of increased shipping losses.

3.—German claims of further sinkings of colossal shipping tonnage in the Atlantic Ocean.

All these served to shake up the British public as nothing before had succeeded in doing. Everywhere conviction was expressed that a life-and-death struggle is to be fought but this winter on the grey wastes of the Atlantic.

Hit Non-Essentials

As with one voice, the entire British press editorially urged even stricter measures to cut out importations of non-essentials and thus reserve space for the vital sinews of war.

They also assured the government that the people are willing to tighten their belts—to the last notch if necessary.

Official British circles declined immediate comment on the latest German claims of U-boat sinkings of 16 ships in the Atlantic. But that the shipping problem is growing in complexity was clearly indicated by the latest admiralty announcement of shipping losses for

BASES ON ISLES MAY COST U. S. MANY MILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—The United States may be required to pay a "substantial sum" possibly $25,000,000 or more, to lease the eight naval bases on British territories in the Western Hemisphere, authoritative sources revealed today.

Rights to construct naval and air bases on the British Possessions were obtained by trading 50 overage destroyers to the English navy last September.

Although the Navy Department refused to discuss financial details of the negotiations now in progress relative to operation of the eight bases, it is disclosed that the United States may be required to pay annual taxes, as well as large sums for land condemned by the territorial governments.

Sites already have been selected by the Navy at Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Antigua and British Guiana. Negotiations for a site in Trinidad are still in progress, despite a statement by Secretary of the Navy Knox that selection of the area desired by the United States (Continued on Page Two)

The District of Columbia made the greatest population gain, 36.2 percent, while Florida was second with 29.2 percent.

States gaining members of the house of representatives are Arizona, Florida, Michigan, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oregon and Tennessee, one each, and California, three.

States losing one each are Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Ohio, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania.

Members of congress from states losing members are expected to urge an increase in the membership of the house so as to allow increases in states gaining in population and avoid taking seats from other states.

Marshland Offered

Unofficial reports reaching Washington last week said that Trinidad authorities at first offered the navy a tract of marshland which would have required extensive dredging and filling before it would have been serviceable as a base.

Under the terms of the destroyer-naval base exchange, the United States will obtain 99 year leases on the British territory taken over for bases. These facilities are to be "free from all rent and charges other than such compensation to be mutually agreed on to be paid by the United States in order to compensate the owners of private property for loss by expropriation or damage arising out of the establishment of the bases and facilities in question."

It is understood that portions of the sites are located on crown territories, but a large part of the land needed by the Navy will have to be condemned. The Navy refused to discuss reports that the price of private land in the base areas has boomed tremendously.

Reliable sources conceded, however, that a substantial amount may be paid to acquire the necessary land. The Navy also may reimburse the colonial governments for real estate taxes on land taken over by the U. S.

President Roosevelt last week allocated $50,000,000 from emergency funds for construction of the eight bases.

Regardless of the ultimate cost of the new bases, Navy officials consider their acquisition well worth the price. Utilization of these Atlantic outposts will save the navy considerable money in fuel bills. Vessels now patrolling the Atlantic must steam many miles back to the United States, Canada or Latin America to refuel. Fueling stations will be established at each of the eight bases.

HEALTHERS IN VISITS TO COUNTY BUILDINGS

Dr. W. J. Smith of the State Department of Health, assisted by Health Commissioner Dr. A. D. Blackburn, Monday, completed first tuberculin skin tests for 468 county high school students and faculty members.

Dr. Smith and Dr. Blackburn will read the tests Wednesday and to students showing negative tests, a stronger test solution will be given.

Final results of the test will be determined Friday, Dr. Blackburn said.

and noted Romanian historian. The other three had been arrested in connection with the assassination of Virgil Madgearu, former finance minister.

Meanwhile, it was reported, Antonescu rejected pleas of high army officers that he declare a military dictatorship to restore order in Romania.

Antonescu was represented as fearful such an action would create civil warfare.

The latest decree also prohibited the wearing of green shirts, the emblem of the Iron Guard, until the organization has "purified" itself by dismissing many members who have entered the movement during the last three months.

Use Limited

For the time being the wearing of green shirts will be limited merely to special festivities and to Iron Guard officials who hold public office.

The Iron Guard "special police" whose dissolution was ordered were held responsible for the massacre of 64 enemies of the Iron Guard that precipitated Romania's wave of terrorism.

The order was issued by Vice Premier Sima, who also stipulated strict examination of the behavior of all members of the Iron Guard party—particularly those who joined the organization in recent months.

Those found "unworthy" to be Iron Guard legionnaires will be excluded from membership.

Meanwhile police pressed an investigation into a mysterious fire which last night swept through the propaganda ministry, destroying great quantities of official documents. Although a government announcement stated that the blaze was started by an explosion among film archives, unconfirmed reports circulated that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Youthful King Michael, who yesterday made his first public appearance in a week when he reviewed German troops in Bucharest, was in secret hiding today as specially designated officers of the ministry of interior took all precautions to prevent any possible attempt on the monarch's life.

Although government quarters contend that all the terrorism and bloodshed that has marked the last week has been brought under control, reports reaching the capital nevertheless indicated that the towns of Ploesti, Constantza and Galatz were under the rule of the terrorist majority of the Iron Guard.

Trouble between the Iron Guard and the Romanian Orthodox Church brewed today in the wake of Chief Patriarch Nocomed's refusal to accede to an Iron Guard demand that Captain Corneliu Codreanu, founder of the Iron Guard and "martyr," be proclaimed a saint.

The Iron Guard demand was made through a government memorandum, handed to the Holy Synod, calling on the Orthodox Church to "adapt itself to a legionnaire-controlled" state. The memorandum laid down 30 points which it requested the church to accept. The Synod, which is now in session, accepted only the first, whereby "only Jews who were baptized before 1910 may be considered Christians."

BOMBS SPATTER ON LONDON AREA

claimed, blasting a number of buildings, including a children's hospital, churches and houses.

The working class section of the town suffered the brunt of the attack and it was feared many victims were still buried in the debris.

Prompt action by fire fighters prevented serious conflagrations.

During the night the Nazi bombers attacked ports and towns in East Anglia. Southern, southwestern and western England, but it appeared that Bristol was their chief objective.

Official admission in London that Bristol had been attacked during the night was made after the Air Ministry issued a communique which said:

"Shortly after dark enemy bombers attacked a town in west England. The attack continued on a heavy scale until a little before midnight. A number of fires were started and considerable damage was done to houses and public and commercial buildings. Some persons were killed and injured."

The communique added that bombs were dropped on East Anglia, South Wales and a few points elsewhere but caused only a few casualties, including some killed, and little damage. One British fighting plane was lost yesterday, the statement said, but the pilot is safe.

During the early morning hours not a single German raider was reported over Britain or the English Channel, probably owing to foggy weather along the French coast.

Mines Placed

The (Associated Press) Note: In Berlin it was announced that strong German bomber units attacked Bristol during the night while other German planes continued sowing mines in British sea routes.

(At dawn yesterday, the announcement added, British aircraft dropped some bombs on Cuxhaven.)

The German attack on Bristol, already heavily bombed a week ago, followed the usual German tactics. The raiders first dropped flares, then fire bombs and finally high explosives.

the week ending November 24-25. During that week, the admiralty said, shipping losses totalled 22 ships aggregating 87,975 tons.

Of these, 19 vessels were British, totalling 75,560 tons and three were allied ships of 12,415 tons.

It was pointed out that these losses represented 24,000 tons in excess of the weekly average since war began.

British authorities admitted that German submarine and aerial activities in the Atlantic continued to be a serious menace to Britain and that the "situation is not yet in hand."

A communique stated: "In attacks last night on enemy shipping off the Norwegian coast the RAF scored a direct hit on one ship. A large explosion and fire resulted from bombings of wharves on Feje island.

"Earlier yesterday an RAF plane scored a direct hit on the stern of a supply ship. Other bombers last night raided the submarine base at Lorient. No losses were sustained by the RAF."

Greeks Declare Efforts To Halt Albanian Advances Prove Futile

ATHENS, Dec. 3—All Italian defense lines in Albania have collapsed completely and desperate Fascist efforts to consolidate new positions further north have failed to check the Greek advance, according to latest reports from the battle zone today.

Snowstorms and cloudy weather were said to have prevented continued aerial strafing of the retreating Italians by British and Greek planes.

It was indicated, however, that the Greek ground forces were advancing despite five feet of snow in the direction of Elbasan while the Italians on the northern sector kept shelling Pogradec, which they abandoned several days ago to the bayonet-wielding Greeks.

On all fronts, dispatches to Athens claimed, the Italians are in flight—with fierce Greeks in hot pursuit.

ROME, Dec. 3—Attacks by Greek troops, followed by Italian counter-attacks, were reported on two Albanian fronts today.

The Italian high command announced that the fighting centered around positions held by the Ninth and Eleventh Fascist Armies, but gave no further indications as to the locations.

Italian planes cooperated with the ground troops in the counter-attacks, the announcement said, bombing Greek positions, communications and mechanized units behind the lines.

A new air attack on the forts and military objectives of the Greek island of Corfu in the Ionian Sea also was reported.

VATICAN VOICES NEW APPEAL FOR HOLIDAY TRUCE

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 3—Once again raising his voice against Europe's warfare, Pope Pius XII appealed to the belligerents today for a Christmas truce.

(Editor's Note: British Prime Minister Churchill recently announced in the House of Commons that he would turn down suggestions for a truce over the Christmas tide.)

The pontiff expressed hope that the belligerents, either spontaneously or through a mutual accord, would agree to a Christmas truce.

Vatican circles expressed the opinion the Pope's plea indicated he had carried out diplomatic demarches in behalf of the truce suggestion.

At the same time, the Pope authorized celebration of the regular Christmas midnight mass on the afternoon before Christmas in belligerent nations or other countries where a nightly blackout is enforced.

CLASSIFICATION OF REGISTRANTS NOT PERMANENT

Chairman Of Draft Board Points Out Changes Are Possible

INSTRUCTIONS LISTED

Only Persons Placed In Class I-A Permitted To File Appeals

Those Pickaway County registrants who have already received their classification cards should keep them and not return them to the draft board office, Chairman Emmitt Crist pointed out Tuesday, as the draft board continued its classification of the county's registrants.

"The classification card, Form 57, is not a notice to appear for physical examination," the draft board chairman said.

If a registrant receives notice he had been placed in Class I-A, he has five days in which to ask for further consideration before the local board or to appeal his classification to the Appeals Board, but in either case he should notify his local board, before the five days have elapsed, of his intention. However, at the present time, only those in Class I-A are permitted to appeal their classification.

Chairman Crist further pointed out to both registrants and their employers, that no registrant is deferred because of his class or type of work. Selective Service regulations provide that before a man shall be placed in Class 2-A, or deferred because of his employment all of the following facts must be present: 1. He must be primarily engaged in some business, employment or service as a "necessary man" who is useful or productive and contributes to the employment and well being of the community or nation; 2. He cannot be replaced satisfactorily because of shortage of persons with his qualifications or skill in such activity; 3. His removal will cause a material loss of effectiveness in activity.

In event all of those conditions were met by the registrant, he could be placed in Class 2-A only for a period of six months, except that the local board could continue this classification if circumstances warranted such action.

PLANS FOR HOME GUARD IN OHIO TO BE DISCUSSED

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3—Plans for formation of a home guard for Ohio to take place of the Ohio National Guard, now in a year's military training at Camp Shelby, Miss., will be discussed at a mass meeting in Columbus tomorrow. It was announced today by Adj. Gen. Gilson D. Light.

The new home guard, under tentative plans, would be known as the "state guard of Ohio." It would undergo training almost identical to that of the National Guard. General Light said an organization consisting of 250 officers and 4,000 men is contemplated.

Such a guard, if organized immediately, would have no official status until after the General Assembly, which convenes Jan. 6 moves to legalize it.

At The Grand

Bette Davis says the part of Leslie Crosbie in "The Letter," opening at the Grand on Sunday on a double bill with "Charter Pilot" starring Lynn Bari and Lloyd Nolan, was the most difficult role she ever attempted and it's all the fault of Katharine Cornell.

Leslie Crosbie was difficult enough without the Cornell hazard. She is a fragile, well-bred, gentle person but she commits a brutal murder and carries it off with the nonchalance of a lady presiding at the garden party.

"It's a great part," Miss Davis said, "a very wonderful part—but I saw Katharine Cornell do it on the stage. She did it in New York in 1927. I was so fascinated by her acting and genius that I saw the play twice, and I can recall every vivid detail of her performance."

"But, you see, I'm not at all like Kitty Cornell. I had to make this part mine, all mine, my very own."

"It was the hardest thing I ever tried, because I kept remembering Cornell in the part."

It's doubtful if any actress ever paid another so sincere a compliment as that.

F. D. ARRIVES IN MIAMI TO START CARRIBEAN TOUR

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3—President Roosevelt arrived in Miami today to embark on a cruise through West Indies and Caribbean waters that will enable him to ascertain at first hand what progress has been made in perfecting an adequate defense of the Panama Canal, the southern coastline of the United States and Central America.

At least this was what accompanying reporters surmised. They knew the U.S.S. Tuscaloosa and two escorting destroyers were waiting at the Miami waterfront for the commander-in-chief. They knew that the current cruise was to be one of additional inspection of defense facilities.

President Roosevelt promised to lift some of the veil of mystery shortly before he boards the cruiser on which he has searched out problems of two ocean defense in series of cruises over the last three years.

Pending any pronouncement from the President, it was anticipated he might turn his trim battlewagon as far south as Trinidad, British possession just off Venezuela, which is one of the eight potential bases the British agreed to turn over to the United States in exchange for 50 overage destroyers. There has been some controversy about precise location of the Trinidad base, but Mr. Roosevelt said at his last press conference he believed a virtual agreement had been reached.

COUNCIL CONFAB MAY DETERMINE RELIEF PROGRAM

What the city does with its relief problem now depends on action from City Council, county commissioners announced Monday following their meeting with Council representatives.

At the same time, Council Representative Joe Adkins and Frank Lynch left the meeting still undetermined of what they might do, although it was generally understood that by the time the Council meets Wednesday night, definite relief cost figures may be presented.

At its Wednesday night meeting Council may choose one of the three plans offered it by Relief Director Delos Marcy: 1. It may decide to authorize and pay for its own medical services with payment continuing to be handled through the county relief office; 2. It may set up its own relief budget and accept the responsibility of paying for its own case worker with the privilege of using the county's records pertaining to relief clients or 3. It may decide it can operate its own relief cheaper than the county has handled it and decide to accept the full responsibility of future city relief administration.

MASS SERVICES TO BE HELD IN MINING DISTRICT

CADIZ, Dec. 3—With bodies of the 31 men killed in last Friday's explosion out of the Ohio and Pennsylvania mine at nearby Nelma, mass funeral services were planned today for the victims of the underground blast.

Services for 15 of the miners were to be held at Cadiz today while at the same time rites for four others were to be held at nearby Amsterdam. Pete Speicher, whose body was recovered Saturday, was buried yesterday. The remaining 11 victims probably will be buried tomorrow.

Deadly gas hampered crews seeking to clean up the blast scene so various investigations could get underway. Mine Engineer John Mullen said it had been determined definitely that the 31 were killed outright.

Meanwhile, Ohio CIO Secretary Ted F. Silvey sent letters to all Ohio members of congress, urging passage of the Neely-Keller Mine Safety Bill. The measure, which would provide for federal mine inspection, has already passed the Senate.

Here's Official Number List For Draft

Editor's Note: The Herald publishes each day a number of names, Serial and Order Numbers of Pickaway Countians who registered under the Selective Service Act. This list is the official one as announced by the Draft Board. In the publication will be the name, serial and order number of each man who registered. In the list below the first number listed is the Serial Number; the second is the Order Number. For instance, Elmon Richards registered. After the registration was completed the local Draft Board shuffled the names and conducted its draw. Richards was given No. 2424 Serial Number. Later the lottery in Washington and Richards No. 2424 was the 109th Pickaway County number drawn from the glass bowl. So he will be the 109th in the county to receive his questionnaire the answers on which will decide whether he will be ordered into service for a year. In each instance below, the first number is the Serial Number and the second one is the Order Number, the order in which the registrant will be asked to fill his questionnaire.

What do you see here? Just a lot of railroad coal cars? Listen—

You're looking at the greatest source of energy in America.

Coal is No. 1 source of power in the nation's factories.

Coal is No. 1 source of warmth in the nation's homes.

Coal gives us iron and steel. Coal generates most of the electricity used in this country. And just a handful of coal contains enough energy to pull a ton of freight a mile on America's railroads.

Did you know that it takes more than a million tons a day to supply the nation's demands for light and heat and power?

Did you know that the annual value of the bituminous and anthracite coal mined in the United States exceeds that of all other minerals combined?

But without adequate transportation from mines to the rest of the country these coals would have little value. Few people could enjoy their warmth and comfort—most manufacturing plants would have to be located near the mines.

It is only because railroads provide quick, dependable, cheap transportation to every corner of the land that people can use this inexpensive fuel, and that manufacturing and power plants, producing for our daily needs and for national defense, can be located long distances from the coal fields and still be sure of a steady flow of fuel.

To meet the nation's needs, railroads every day are called upon to haul enough coal to make a train 150 miles long.

No other form of transportation could come close to handling so great a job so smoothly or economically. All by itself the movement of the nation's No. 1 fuel from mine to consumer would be a notable accomplishment. But at the same time, the food you eat, the clothes you wear, most of the things you use every day—and most of the supplies for the nation's factories—flow with the same smoothness—by rail.

No wonder thoughtful people recognize the railroads as the nation's No. 1 transportation system—not only in the volume they handle, but in the skill with which the job is done.

OUR MARATHON

It is vitally important right now to recognize in this country that Britain and Greece, both small and weak countries when their resources are compared with ours, are holding back the deluge. If the dike broke, Hitler would be over here in no time. The natural conclusion from this fact is to give them "everything we've got" that doesn't include direct war participation.

It means moral support without limit. It means material support not merely while they can pay for it, but support after they have lost their power to pay.

This is not mere generosity. Our heads are involved as much as our hearts, or more. Americans who have not realized it yet must realize now that this is almost as big a testing time for us as it is for the hard-pressed European countries whose natural and inevitable allies we are.

Nothing, not politics nor racial prejudice nor false thrift nor hostile propaganda, should be allowed to interfere with this essential duty. We Americans must stand in spirit with the Greeks and British in this new Battle of Marathon.

SALUTING THE FLAG

EVERY true American loves the stars and stripes. He wishes to do his flag honor as the symbol of the nation to which he belongs. But here and there are found Americans who do not like the wording of the pledge of allegiance which is commonly used in schools, at meetings and over the radio.

This pledge begins: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands." Most of those who hear it find nothing wrong. When they "pledge allegiance to the flag" they think of the flag not at all as a piece of cloth, but simply and purely as a symbol of the republic.

To people of literal mind, however, such as Jehovah's Witnesses and members of some other groups, the words are offensive or materialistic. These people do not want to pledge allegiance to a piece of cloth, a strip of parti-colored bunting, however beautiful and symbolic it may be.

There are other people, not so literal-minded, nor so antagonistic over matters of detail, who do not like the pledge simply because they do not believe it is well worded. To them, if it began more like this: "I pledge allegiance to the United States of America for which this banner stands" and went on with "one nation, indivisible, liberty and justice for all", presumably they would be glad to repeat the pledge. How about a committee to consider a new phrasing?

Those Britons seem as resistant to shell-shock as if they were so many shell-fish.

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a snappy morning, the kind that makes me feel I wouldn't care for permanent residence in the northland after all. Received a note from a friend in Canada, he telling of thick ice and blizzards, about the deer and moose hunting and ending with the usual "wish you were here." I'll reply today and tell him to direct his wishes at someone else. This is cold enough for me.

Those Canadians certainly are keeping their chins in the air. No doubt in their minds about who will win the war. Working night and day to prepare men and munitions for overseas duty against the Germans. Strange that no one seems to regard the Italians as much. Everything is done against the Germans. If I were Mussolini I think I would feel terribly slighted. Seems as though everyone slighted him except the Greeks.

Dropped in at City Hall just in time to hear Mayor Cady assess a fine of $50 and costs. Bill started writing out a receipt and remarked that he would write it, "Received for fine and costs." Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

BRITISH SUDDENLY FRANK

WASHINGTON—What is happening in England today is a barrage of truth. Suddenly, British censors have passed a succession of news stories which admit what U. S. military observers long ago knew, that the damage in England was terrific, that airplane production had slowed down, and that British shipping was in a more desperate predicament than during some of the dark days of the first World War.

These facts also have been admitted by responsible cabinet officers on the floor of Parliament. The sudden frankness means only one thing—the British are telling us that unless they get even greater help from the United States, they may face defeat.

Actually the situation has not changed materially, except for the willingness of the British to talk about it. The odds definitely have been against the British from the very minute France surrendered. But thanks to the Greeks and the failures of the Italian fleet, British odds have improved considerably, though they are not yet 50-50.

The situation still is the same as frequently reported in this column, namely that one outside nation—the United States or Russia—could tip the war's balance one way or the other.

FOUR MASTER MINDS

Senator Joe Guffey, re-elected Pennsylvania New Dealer, is circulating a unique election trophy. It consists of a photostatic reproduction of four checks he won betting on Roosevelt against Willkie. The checks are:

Frank R. Kent, Baltimore Sun columnist, $100; Joseph Alsop, New York Herald-Tribune columnist, $50; G. Gould Lincoln, Washington Star columnist, $25; Fred W. Perkins, Scripps-Howard staff writer, $25.

Topping Guffey's circular is this caption: "Errors in judgment of political writers."

NO BRITISH LOANS

Lord Lothian's frank admission that Britain was nearing the end of her ready-cash rope was no surprise to Administration leaders. They had discussed this question, behind the scenes, for some time.

In these confidential conversations the general opinion was expressed that World War history should not be repeated, and that the United States should turn thumbs down on foreign war loans. But at the same time, and far more important, there was no question that the British must get help from the United States.

In other words, Great Britain would get what she wants from the United States either through outright gifts or swapping for bases. But loans, with their post-war headaches, were ruled out. At a recent White House conference the gift-or-swap plan was vigorously advocated on the following grounds:

(1) That if the United States really means what it says, namely that Britain is the first line of American defense and is fighting the battle of democracy against totalitarianism, then the only honest thing to do is to give Britain the planes, ships, arms and munitions she needs to wage this struggle.

(2) That the American people would far prefer such a straight-forward policy to the back-door method of repealing the Johnson Act and putting financial assistance on a commercial basis.

even those who put on a false front of being tough, and many suffer agonies during this period of adjustment.

Adjustment, as the authors very sensibly assume, means first adjustment to yourself—and in the teen age every year is different; then adjustment to your family; then to your neighbors; and then to teachers, fellow-students or workers, and the world at large.

Getting off on the right foot in this adventure of growing from boy to man consists, first, of living fully and successfully the life of a boy and then of moving straight ahead, step by step, from boy associations and activities to those of a man's world. If, as a boy, you can learn to get along with all kinds of people, fit yourself into groups of various sizes and purposes and acquire a clear picture of life around you, you have the surest possible start to moving successfully into the more complicated life of a man.

Mental and Physical Health

In the process, consideration must be made for both mental health and physical health, and the authors of this manual pay attention to both. Under mental health, hobbies and work are stressed as methods of learning your place in the world and your relation to your environment. Several pages are devoted to lists of recent books on skills, hobbies, and special interests. These include camping and woodcraft; knots, ties and splices; shelters and shanties; building things; stamps and

MIMI SAID, "Hello, Miss O'Reilly," and turned to Vance saying, "Darling, this is Jacques D'Arville who wrote the amusing lyrics for 'Magic in Mirrors.' Jacques, this is Vance Healey, our leading radio announcer."

Strangely, Kit knew swift anger as her sharpened eyes and ears noticed the changes in Mimi's glances and the tones of her voice that were warm for Jacques and indifferent to Vance.

She was saying, "Vance, you won't mind if I run along with Jacques, will you? I've got to be in town for an early dinner. There isn't any reason why you should go. Gwen's got some sort of fireworks show going on later. You see, Jacques has to drive in at once and he can drop me off. You can call me tomorrow. Goodbye, Miss O'Reilly. So nice to see you again."

She was gone as abruptly as she had come.

Kit didn't look at Vance then. She felt his humiliation as much as if it were her own.

He said lightly, "I'm glad Mimi doesn't insist on my driving her back. She knows how much I'm enjoying this. I don't often get a chance to enjoy an outdoor party."

"Of course you don't," she said. "Vance, I— I'd like to have your advice about a little matter. Will you lunch with me tomorrow at my place?"

He said he'd be delighted.

Kit got up from the table and moved over to the lounge when Anna came in with the tray of coffee things and put it on a table beside her.

Vance said, "This is like old times."

Kit felt a nerve twitch in her face and caught her lip between her teeth to steady it.

She dropped a lump of sugar in a cup and filled it with coffee. "It's nice to have you here," she said pleasantly, handing him the cup.

"I'm glad I had you to advise me about the New Orleans engagement. You're quite right. I think I'm working so hard for this Gershwin Memorial program."

Vance, stirring his coffee, said, "Of course I'm right. If this were a year ago and you needed to build up your personality with the public, I'd advise you to do it. But today you've got the biggest name in radio. Also, that stadium concert will set you."

O.S.U. Professor Talks On European Problems

200 Attentive As Dr. Felix Held Speaks

Thoroughly conversant with world affairs, Dr. Felix E. Held, secretary of the College of Commerce and Administration at Ohio State University, in a lecture on "Interpretations of World Events" held an audience of more than 200 in deeply concentrated interest Monday night while he presented his deductions from the steadily moving events in Europe and the Americas. His rapidly delivered address of more than an hour was presented at an open meeting of Monday Club in the Presbyterian Church.

"Anything may happen in Europe," stated Dr. Held early in his talk, "and no man can say whether Hitler will come forth as its dictator." He said that it would be utterly futile merely to rehearse events that have taken place, as the radio and news journals keep us informed hourly, rather, he would discuss what was back of, and what might come of certain situations.

By this time, he continued, it was evident that England could survive the terrific pounding in the air war since Hitler had made the mistake of starting it by a gradual process of stepping up the attacks little by little, until the English people were immunized to the stress of it, much as a patient's system can be immunized by broken doses of a powerful medicine. "Now," he said, "Germany's war against England was changing from a general air war to concentrated attacks on various bases and industrial centers with the idea of curtailing war supplies. That Germany was concentrating on a strangulation or starvation plan, cutting off supplies by submarine warfare and raiders on the sea and attempting to block England from the Mediterranean by taking the Suez Canal and Gibraltar, this being Italy's part in the plan. Next the attempt to get to Turkey, England's one ally in the East, by Italy's invasion of Greece through Albania."

In discussing these plans, Dr. Held stressed the seriousness of the results if England should lose her hold in the Mediterranean.

He stated that idealism and ideology were no longer in force in any country of the world, that in the last analysis, expediency would be the ruling factor. In this connection, he mentioned Italy as never being stable, but as always seeking strategic alliances with stronger powers. Continuing, he said, that if England had not interfered in the Greco-Turkish war, Turkey would have been forced to give in to Italy or Germany. If England can spare enough airplanes, soldiers and battleships to overcome Italy, Turkey will stay with England, which would be, according to Dr. Held's idea, one of the most important developments of the war.

While Italy fights out the Mediterranean war, Germany is taking care of the Balkans, he said, thus seeking to attack Greece through Albania, which even now is rapidly being filled with soldiers. These are coming in as tourists, this being the often used "infiltration method" of the early months of the war.

Again pointing to the importance of the war in the Mediterranean, he said that in the event of England winning there, Italy would be confronted with an almost total lack of foodstuffs through the resulting blockade. He also took up Spain's peculiar situation and stated that Franco does not want to enter the war.

Dr. Held in commenting on what he called the last element, the diplomatic angle, said that unless England was absolutely conquered, Hitler's position would never be secure.

Turning his attention to the United States, he discussed our position in relation to South American countries, saying that these countries are suspicious of our intentions, that they seem to think that we have become "more minded." He pointed out that there seems to be a lack of ability to get together, one reason being the misunderstandings that have arisen through business dealing, our methods being too brusque for them.

In closing his brilliant talk, Dr.

Held discussed the difficult problems that would face Congress early in the coming year, stating that a decision must be reached in our relationship with England and its war, and outlined several possible courses. This he mentioned as our great problem in world affairs.

Dr. Held answered several pertinent questions at the close of his talk, giving information concerning food supplies in Germany as well as the conquered countries of Europe.

Inside the store our diamond experts will answer any questions about diamonds. We shall be glad to explain how the cutting, color, degree of perfection and weight all influence the value of a diamond.

TEN DAYS, beginning Dec. 4 through Dec. 13.

Big Ten Teams Finish One, Two In Dickinson's Rating of Grid Outfits

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Dec. 3—Regardless of the outcome of the various New Year's Day football contests, the University of Minnesota rates the national collegiate football championship, according to the Dickinson rating system, compiled today by Professor Frank G. Dickinson of the University of Illinois.

Minnesota undefeated Western Conference champion, not only was awarded the national title, but given permanent possession of the Rockne Memorial Trophy, because the Gophers won it three years—1934, 1936 and 1940. Professor Dickinson announced today that he is discontinuing his football rating and that Minnesota would have won permanent possession of the trophy had the Gophers ranged no higher than seventh this year, because they had the best 10-year record, 1931-1940.

Michigan, defeated only by Minnesota, was ranked second. Stanford, Tennessee and Texas A. & M. followed in order. Pennsylvania was the only eastern team on the list, while the Big Ten and the Southwest Conference each had three. Southern Methodist, however, must defeat Rice on December 7 or surrender eleventh place in ratings to Boston College.

The Rockne Memorial Trophy was sponsored by the four horsemen who comprised the famous Notre Dame backfield of 1924—James H. Crowley, Elmer F. Layden, Harry A. Stuhldreher and Donald C. Miller.

Michigan won the trophy in 1932 and 1933 and Southern California won first place in 1931 and 1939, leaving Michigan, Southern California and Minnesota each with two legs on the trophy at the start of the 1940 season.

In announcing his retirement from rating football teams, Professor Dickinson invited high school and college conferences to continue use of his system. His 1940 national rating was as follows:

(X indicates number of years (1924-1940) on list of eleven leading teams)

HARMON, BAUMAN NAMED

CHICAGO, Dec. 3—Tommy Harmon, the Michigan marvel, today added two more trophies to his rapidly growing collection. The latest recognition of the all-American football ace came from the Walling Wall, Chicago luncheon club, which picked Harmon as the player of the year and back of the year. Alf Bauman, Northwestern tackle, was selected as lineman of the year.

QUICK ON TRIGGER

LUBBOCK, Tex., — "Practice hours, 5 to 6," read the sign on the door of the music practice shack, near the women's dormitory at Texas Technological College in Lubbock. The day after school opened, co-eds were awakened at 5 a. m. by an ambitious freshman running the scales on a trumpet—and the tooting continued for exactly an hour. The music staff had failed to specify "p. m." on its sign.

BUCK COACHING STAFF, ALL BUT SCHMIDT, TO ATTEND LOOP CONFABS

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3—The entire Ohio State University athletic department—with the exception of Head Coach Francis A. Schmidt—will attend the annual Western Conference meeting in Chicago this week end to draw up the Buckeye winter and spring sports schedules.

Significantly enough, Coach Schmidt will miss the meeting to attend the Notre Dame-Southern California game in Pasadena, Calif., Saturday. The Golden Bears are on the 1941 schedule of the Ohio State eleven.

The Ohio State athletic board has not announced when it would meet to decide Schmidt's status, along with the other athletic department members. However, the board is not expected to meet until next week or perhaps later.

MANY NEW MARKS SCORED BY PRO GRIDIRON CREWS

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—Six new records were established and one mark was tied during the 1940 National Professional League season, which closed last Sunday, statistics disclosed today.

The Philadelphia Eagles, winners of only one league game, set three records; the Washington Redskins registered another record, and the remaining two were new records for total league passing. Oddly enough, all the new records were in the forward passing department and the tied mark was six touchdowns by rushing in one game by Detroit.

The Redskins, who meet the Chicago Bears in the championship playoff game in Washington on Sunday, captured the scoring honors and finished in a tie with the Eagles for the forward passing crown. The Green Bay Packers, last year's champions, won the ground-gaining title.

Washington completed 144 passes out of 244 for a 59 percent average to break the 58.2 percent mark it established last year. The Eagles complete 152 aeriels to surpass the 127 completions made last season by the Cleveland Rams. The Eagles, in the final game of the season, completed 33 passes for 316 yards to set two new one-game records.

The league's ten teams completed 966 out of 2253 tosses for 42.8 percent efficiency, breaking the old marks of 951 completions and 42.4 percent.

The Redskins won the scoring crown with 245 points, seven more than was made by the Packers and the Bears, who tied for second place.

National Defense Plans Discussed For Educators

Superintendents To Meet With McDowell For Conference

SEVERAL AT MEETING

Vocational Shops Will Be Used; Each School Must Use 10 Persons

County school authorities returned Tuesday after a National Defense-Vocational Training Program meeting in Columbus still questioning the possibility that a workable plan of instruction can be set up in the county schools. School superintendents, however, have been considering the program for some time and are expected to discuss it thoroughly when they meet Thursday with Superintendent George McDowell. The project cannot possibly be set up in Pickaway County before the first of the year, Superintendent McDowell believes.

Possibility that the eight-week training program, primarily for out-of-school unemployed youth, be handled through the vocational agriculture departments of the schools still provides the most likely setup in Pickaway County, school authorities believe, although, according to Superintendent McDowell, vocational agriculture teachers could not be eligible as instructors in the program since it would necessitate their working more than the maximum of 40 hours a week.

10 In Each School
Ten persons must be enrolled in each school before the program can be approved and set up, although the county schools might consolidate to get the necessary quota, Superintendent McDowell said.

Proposed courses to be offered through the vocational agriculture departments are: 1. Operation, care and repair of tractors, trucks, and automobiles, including both gas and Diesel engines; 2. Metal work, including simple welds, tempering, drilling, shaping and machinery repairs; 3. Woodworking and 4. Elementary electricity, including operation, care and repair of electrical equipment.

Pickaway County schools that wish to participate in the program may make application through their local board and after the application has been approved by the State Department of Education, and the local boards have determined the types of classes and number of persons to be trained, they may submit requisitions for workers to the local district WPA office.

Besides County Superintendent McDowell, representatives from Pickaway County schools who attended the meeting in Columbus included G. D. Bradley, vocational agriculture instructor at Pickaway and Jackson Township schools; Kenneth Holtrey, vocational agriculture instructor at Walnut Township; Cyril E. Moore, vocational agriculture instructor at Perry, and the Perry Township superintendent, Leslie Canup.

KIWANIANS AND ROTARIANS MEET AT JOINT DINNER

Circleville Kiwanians were hosts to Rotarians Monday evening at a dinner meeting in Hanley's tearoom, the event "paying off a debt" contracted when the latter organization won a football season ticket selling contest conducted last fall. A large percentage of members of both clubs were present.

Don Walker, president of the Kiwanis Club, who was in charge of the meeting, welcomed the Rotarians and tossed a few humorous barbs at the fellow clubmen. Among persons who spoke briefly were Virgil Cress, faculty manager of athletics at high school, who thanked Rotarians and Kiwanians for the splendid work they did in selling season tickets, their efforts practically eliminating a debt owed by the athletic association; Tom O. Gilliland, head of an improvement company that financed the lighting system, who also thanked the civic clubs for their support, and Frank A. Barnhill, president of the Rotary, who accepted a trophy for the winner of the contest. Mr. Barnhill lauded both clubs for their ticket selling work and their cooperation.

The evening's speaker was Dr. J. W. Smith of the Ohio Department of Health, who is working with Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, and Miss Margaret Hunsicker, health nurse, in an anti-tuberculosis program this week. Dr. Smith showed interesting films and discussed the work of the Department of Health. Dr. Blackburn spoke briefly in regard to the health program in the county schools.

MERGER DISCUSSED OF TWO LEADING CHURCHES

BOWLING GREEN, Dec. 3.—Bishop A. R. Clippinger, of Dayton, told the central district conference of the United Brethren Church today that a proposal for merger with the Evangelical Church would be submitted at the Church's next spring conference. "All progress that can be expected is being made toward the merger," Bishop Clippinger declared.

'Things Progressing' At Shelby, Bowers Writes

By S. D. Fridley
Ashville, Phone 79

Private William E. Bowers writes that things are progressing steadily down at Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss. Being now in permanent quarters, consisting of a canvas top with board sides (about eight feet high) and a board floor. There are usually four men to a tent which contains their bunks, a shelf here and there, chairs and a stove along with their other equipment.

He tells of "guard mount" a formal ceremony at which time the guard is inspected to go on night duty. Being in the band, most of his time is spent in practicing music plus keeping the horn shined, etc. for inspection.

The Thanksgiving dinner was described as excellent with plenty of good eats.

Many of the boys, too, received boxes from home which contained their favorite goodies.

The trainees may attend a movie, visit the "canteen", (army supply store) or attend religious services which are all housed within Camp Shelby itself, and which does much to break the monotony of camp life.

From eight o'clock in the morning till 8 at night, there are two switch board phone operators at the local office now. And while the girls didn't say so, too courteous and accommodating, we'll just bet they're saying, "now you old impatient, hotheads, come right along with your talk, we can give you double-team service and say 'thank you' most every time". But seriously putting it, this double team service will lighten the load for the operators and please the patrons. And an extra stick of candy from Santa is due the one who thought of this fine service plan.

Ashville—George and Mrs. Cummins are housekeeping now on their own account, occupying the Mrs. Alma Jones dwelling on Long Street. Mrs. Clara Rihl and Miss Jeraldine Cline were over Sunday guests of Mrs. Rihl's son-in-law and daughter, Dudley and Mrs. Solt, at Toledo.

Ashville—The village council was in session Monday evening. Bills were paid amounting to $184.96. A resolution was passed adopting the new tax rate as fixed by the budget committee and said to be $16.10 per thousand valuation. The purchase and placing of street name signs was under discussion but no definite action taken.

Ashville—Among the mail dispatched to Columbus and away stations yesterday evening from the local post-office were 487 letters—first class.
